People do not know who they are. Before coming to Christ there can be much turmoil and searching. We seek external things to satisfy and to gain our worth and meaning from. We live spiritually blind and therefore cannot see things from heaven ' s perspective. Once we accept Christ as our Lord and personal saviour everything changes.

One day a little girl said to her brother... Do you know what I'll do at the seashore? I'll bring you a shell to hold the sound of the sea. In a little girl's magical question-and-answer game, Charlotte Zolotow captures, with unerring childlike simplicity, a sister's special love for her little brother. Javaka Steptoe's bold artwork offers a stunning new interpretation of the reassuring, lyrical text and brings to yet another generation of children this well-loved story.

Love asks different creatures, objects, and ideas what they know and each responds with quiet observations of how they shape and view their world.

For readers who loved Do You Think I ' m Beautiful? Angela Thomas ' s new book explores a woman ' s need to be known and loved—just as she is. In her book Do You Know Who I Am? Angela Thomas asks God if He knows her—and ultimately does He love her—as she is, right now, today. In each chapter, she names a different identity issue, such as: “ I am invisible, ” “ I am worn out, ” “ I am undisciplined, ” “ I am ordinary, ” and “ I am afraid to dream. ” With each honest admission, Angela teaches that God lovingly replies, “ Yes, I know your heart. I see your struggle. Now...do you know who I AM? ” Ultimately Angela reveals that the secret to being known and loved lies in an intimate understanding of who God is. Each identity struggle is answered with a short biblical study on the character of God that assures readers that their personal, spiritual, and eternal fulfillment is not dependent on getting themselves together. Rather, God has a purpose for them just as they are—broken, afraid, disappointed, disillusioned. Through vivid storytelling, biblical teaching, and practical application, readers will find the heartfelt answers they seek.

Kady I came from nothing and as a child, that is all I was - unwanted, cast aside, forgotten.

Then, I met Noah. He came bulldozing into my life at twelve years old and he saved me. Our love was destined, written in the stars, but in an instant, we lost it all. It was all ripped away from us and my only hope was to run. Alone and scared, I had to stay hidden, shutting out everyone and everything from my previous life because if he found me again, I knew I wouldn't be able to escape a second time. Somewhere out there a crazed maniac is waiting and watching for someone to lead him right to me... Noah Inmate 606 - that's been my identity for seven long years and now that I'm free, there are only two things I want. My old life back and my girl. Kady was more than just my childhood sweetheart; she was my whole world. Whip-smart and insanely beautiful, she challenged me at every turn and made me a better man. I haven't heard a single word from her since the night I was arrested but my brothers of the Bayou Devils MC have been looking for her. And now that I've joined the hunt, nothing will stand in my way. Wherever she is, I will find her and I will make her mine again.

Packed with questionnaires, thoughtful activities, fascinating information, and psychological wisdom, DK's Do You Know Who You Are? is an enjoyable and insightful journey of self-discovery. A positive journey of two front-line EVAC nurses returning from Vietnam, the center of madness. They return to reclaim their virtues, dysfunctional families, and delicate microcosms of religious faith. A textured portrait of the imprecise structures they ran away from three years ago, now possessing a graphic glue eclipsing that which they were before. Two feisty, amusing, feminine rebels whose middle age crisis came early, their lassitude poignantly, gradually replaced by a quixotic sense of future. A vigorous, affirmative character analysis of transition of spirit. DO YOU KNOW YOUR LINES?, a metaphor asking, do you know what to say at that moment in our lives when words almost fail; do fail? Why? Because we may be emotionally bankrupt; willpower, alone, no longer able to return us to those graceful, idealistic, delicious times before fatigue and confusion penetrated deeply into our being.

Every night, somewhere in the world, three or four musicians will climb on stage together. Whether the gig is at a jazz club, a bar, or a bar mitzvah, the performance never begins with a note, but with a question. The trumpet player might turn to the bassist and ask, “ Do you know ‘ Body and Soul ’ ? ” —and from there the subtle craft of playing the jazz repertoire is tested in front of a live audience. These ordinary musicians may never have played together—they may never have met—so how do they smoothly put on a show without getting booed offstage. In “ Do You Know . . . ? ” Robert R. Faulkner and Howard S. Becker—both jazz musicians with decades of experience performing—present the view from the bandstand, revealing the array of skills necessary for working musicians to do their jobs. While learning songs from sheet music or by ear helps, the jobbing musician ’ s lexicon is dauntingly massive: hundreds of thousands of tunes from jazz classics and pop standards to more exotic fare. Since it is impossible for anyone to memorize all of these songs, Faulkner and Becker show that musicians collectively negotiate and improvise their way to a successful performance. Players must explore each others ’ areas of expertise, develop an ability to fake their way through unfamiliar territory, and respond to the unpredictable demands of their audience—whether an unexpected gang of polka fanatics or a tipsy father of the bride with an obscure favorite song. “ Do You Know . . . ? ” dishes out entertaining stories and sharp insights drawn from the authors ’ own experiences and observations as well as interviews with a range of musicians. Faulkner and Becker ’ s vivid, detailed portrait of the musician at work holds valuable lessons for anyone who has to think on the spot or under a spotlight.
